The 1954 Alfarata

Juniata College

Huntingdon, Pennsylvania

Foreword

"Open, sesame!" gained Ali Baba entrance to an ancient door. No magic phrase is ours, but knowledge gives us the perspective to see, not one, but many doors, a multitude of opportunities. The rest lies within us, the choosing and the entering.

President of the College

Dr. Calvert N. Ellis

You have walked through many doors this year! Only the future will reveal the doors which opened to you and the experiences which followed! We hope that these doors have given you a desire to know, to follow truth wherever it leads, and to weigh information and impressions carefully and intelligently.

These pages should bring memories of one of Juniata's finest years! Do you remember the thrill of a new idea you discovered, — the laboratory experiment that was successfully completed, — the football victory over Ursinus, which closed an unforgettable gridiron season, — the first impression of Totem Inn?

We hope that this year you have expanded your knowledge, enjoyed the association of an interesting college community, and found a great cause worthy of your very best. May you have received "a compelling desire to live greatly and magnanimously."

CALVERT N. ELLIS

President

Doorways are symbols of opportunities. Juniata exists in order that students may have opportunities which would not otherwise be available to them. We have doorways which represent opportunities for enlightment, spiritual and aesthetic enrichment, social maturity, and physical development. There may be others, but these are the primary ones which we would not want anyone to miss.

Whether the student seizes these opportunities, or even recognizes them as such, is strictly up to him. In order to be faithful to its responsibility the college must provide them in as generous measures as possible, and it must encourage the student to realize the values of these opportunities in his own experience. Only by his own initiative and effort can the student derive the benefit which these opportunities are intended to give him.

We who see students enter and leave Juniata year after year find our most gratifying reward in the knowledge that the opportunities to be found here do not always go unclaimed. At any rate, the latch strings of our doorways of opportunity are always toward the student.

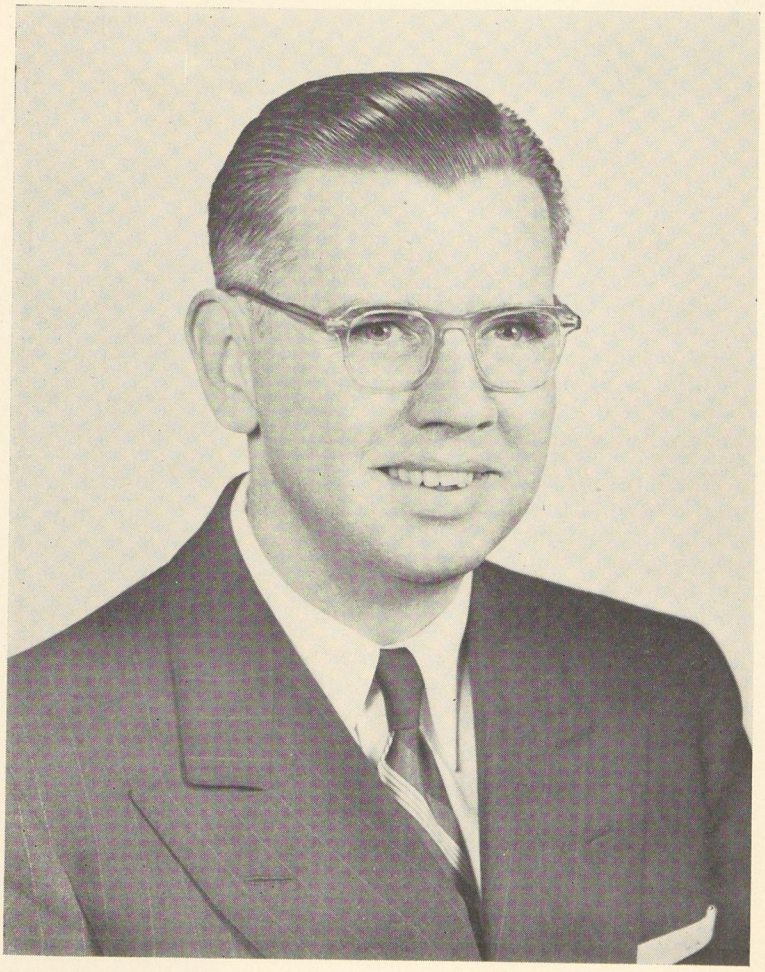
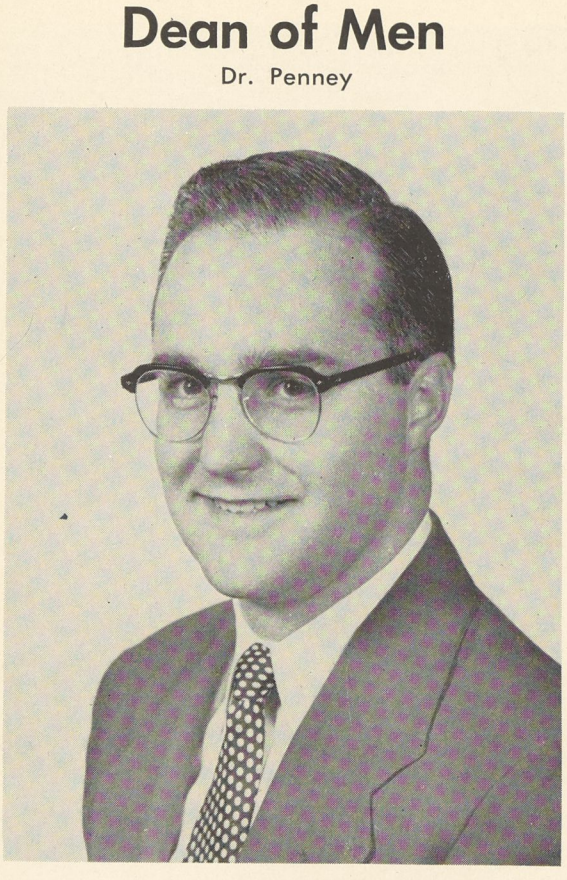
Dr. Morley Mays



Dean of Men

Dr. Penney



A college is a social institution designed to present the maturing personality with opportunities to develop intellectually, socially, and emotionally. Adolescents, thrown as freshmen into a novel, perplexing and often frustrating environment, must form anew the groupings which give status, security, friends, adventure. Here is a testing ground where opportunity and potential come together in a dynamic relationship which makes or breaks the individual. Confronted with a weight of tradition often incomprehensible to him, faced with demands in excess of any previously experienced, forced to examine his being and his beliefs in the harsh light of scientific method, he must change and grow—or fall by the wayside.

That many fail to grow is attested by the comparative sizes of senior and freshman classes. Those who succeed move on with the knowledge that they have been tested and found ready for the leadership and the service which are obligations of the educated man. To them—to you—is power. May it be wisely used, and well.

DEAN PENNEY

Seniors of 1954! You are going from Juniata to enter the many fields of service which four years within her walls have opened for you—in a world brimming with opportunities, a world waiting for the arts and skills of those who are prepared to serve.

Young people, equipped as you with the background of a Christian College with high scholastic standards, are desperately needed to help in constructing and reconstructing for a free, peaceful and forward looking world . . . indeed a NEW world!

You are the emissaries of Juniata to the far-flung areas of the globe, and with you go the hopes, the prayers and every good wish of those of us who remain on campus.

Those who learn and share are "the salt of the earth."

Senior Class

And at the end of the summer, September must come. The Juniata campus awoke from its summer lethargy and greeted us, the senior class. For us, this was the beginning of the end. We began the year anxious to do everything there was to do; these four years were flying all too fast.

As always, the crisp fall days brought football season upon us. The Juniata Indians were captained four ways this year. Chuck Knox, Pone Martin, Tom McNeal and Ron Clapper, the only members of the Class of '54 remaining on the team, joined forces to lead the Indians to an undefeated season. And long will the memory of "Bull" Smaltz riding across the stage of Oller Hall in a gondola remain with us! The Victory Rally gave a memorable farewell to the four '54 braves.

After three years of "almost won," the senior class tried again. This time the seniors presented a thought-provoking sketch of life in ancient Sparta . . . and finally, the coveted All-Class Night Cup was ours. The skit was the brain-child of Fritz Blechschmidt, who wrote, directed and acted in it, maintaining stoutly throughout the entire evolution of the production, "I absolutely don't have time for this."

Soon came the annual All-College Musical, this time . . . Gilbert and Sullivan's "The Gondoliers." According to what has almost become a tradition in the past four years, the Class of '54 provided many of the leading roles with talented fulfillment. Remember the family of the Duke of Plaza Tor . . . Wil Norris, Carol Lowdermilk and Helen Rosengren, and Betty Shearer as a "wife of a vulgar fraction?"

And then Christmas was upon us and a committee of seniors, led by Bernie Petrusky, transformed the Social Rooms into the season itself. How soon will anyone forget the majestic, silver-draped tree, (result of a dusk to dawn tinsel-hanging project)?

Suddenly the semester is gone, exams are over, and one last lone semester confronts us. But what a semester . . . comps, the May Day festival, the Spring Formal come rushing at us, and then past us. Swimming parties at Raystown take up a hot, sunny afternoon. Plans for the future take up many more. Some of us are looking ahead to graduate school, some to working, some to marriage, some to a few years with the Armed Forces. Where will five, ten or twenty-five years find us scattered?

The seventh of June looms closer and suddenly the last mad, franticly hurried, harried and exciting week is here. To the President's for tea, off to the Senior Step Singing, quick press the long black gown and off again to another function. Baccalaureate Sunday brings us up short; a pause to think of things above this earthly turmoil. We give thanks for having had the opportunity to spend four years in the cloistered atmosphere of this, our Alma Mater. And Commencement, that long-awaited day, finds us somewhat happy, somewhat frightened, somewhat thankful and very humble. "We have crossed the bay, the ocean lies before us."

Junior Class

Our half-mark is passed and the final doors are looming ahead of us. This past year was one of specialized work in major fields for most of us. But even though our courses were "tougher," we met them with determination, ending the year with more Junior names appearing on the Dean's List than any other class.

Leadership Conference marked the beginning of the school year for many members of our class —followed by a resolve to help orientate the new Frosh to Juniata. As "big brothers," "big sisters," members of the Court, and study hall proctors, we served as champions of the "greenies."

Our contribution to the successful football season, other than our spirits, was Myron Sevich, Fran Wampler, Joe Veto, and three cheerleaders. Long to be remembered was the Junior Class pep rally preceding the P.M.C. game. This rally featured the girls of our class in a mock football game, burning effigies and snake dances around a blazing bonfire, and a parade downtown with the band, flares, cheers,—all led by Willie White's car!

After the games, victories were celebrated in the new Totem-Inn, the building of which much can be attributed to one of our past presidents, Russ Hill. The Juniors, under the direction of Kay Bubeck, decorated the Tote for the Christmas season.

Early in December we attempted to capture the All-Class-Nite trophy for the second time with a legendary skit, "Alfarata," directed by Pat Henry. Although the coveted cup was not to be ours, this production gave a prevue of the dramatic personnel in our class, later exemplified in "The Skin of our Teeth," in which eleven Juniors actively participated. Jean Baker played the leading role of Mrs. Antrobus and Doris Wilson was assistant director of the show.

As March rolled around it brought with it election time. Many of us did wide-spread campaigning for Senate positions, and when the dust cleared away the Juniors held eight of the twelve offices.

The climax of the year was the festive Spring Formal, which is traditionally the responsibility of the Junior Class. And finally, at the Candlelighting Ceremony, the Mantle was turned over to our class president. Our Junior year was officially closed and our final year at Juniata awaits us.

Sophomore Class

The serious sophomores! Misleading? Perhaps, but as we stop to look back on the activities of the sophomore class, we can indeed say that it is donning the coat of maturity and striving hard to make that coat fit.

The age-old tradition of Soph-initiate-Frosh, under the auspices of Howie Kerstetter, was a difficult task, for the class attempted to incorporate a new constructive method of initiation. The sophomores did their best to make this plan a success.

With "Harding Was Their Choice" the class of '56 launched a commendable effort to retain the All-Class Night trophy, which they won as freshmen. Graciously, however, they submitted it to the seniors this year.

In keeping with the Christmas spirit various members of the class put their heads and hands together and had an enjoyable time decorating Founder's Porch. A big seven-foot snowman, a pretty tree, several groups of large candles, and greens completed the Yuletide display.

The sophomores also sponsored the Valentine Ball. Its theme was Jackie Gleason's song, "Love, Your Magic Spell Is Everywhere." Africa, Europe, China, and America were all cleverly worked into a skit showing that Cupid operates with equal skill in all four corners of the earth.

And so the sophomores can look back with few regrets and forward with new confidence to becoming worthy upperclassmen.

Freshman Class

With the entrance of nearly two hundred intellectual parvenus last fall, the campus of Juniata College was invaded with a new spirit. College life was a novel experience, and the class of '57 faced it wholeheartedly as a unit. Not only did this group become bound together, but they also allowed some of their enthusiasm to spill over on the upperclassmen, lifting up the morale and loyalty of the entire student body.

The climax to initiation came on Homecoming Day when the frosh were victorious over the sophomores in two out of three athletic contests, thereby earning the right to dispense with dinks and name-tags.

Freshmen talent came to the foreground in the operetta and the All-Class Night skit, "Your Old Man's a Monkey." In leading roles and backstage crews the freshmen revealed both ability and industry. They brought to Juniata what 3-D brought to Hollywood, something new in entertainment.

Also remaining in the memories of everyone are the smaller things which, whether regarded as pleasant or unpleasant, are an integral part of the first year of college—Freshmen Week, study hall, phone and flag duty, English conference, assembly, the Christmas decorations, and the daily trek to Totem Inn.

Thus the class of '57 has truly seemed to utilize its many chances for intellectual and social growth.

Senate

The Student Senate, composed of the leaders of the various facets of collegiate activities, attempts to arbitrate the major problems in campus life.

The demands and complaints of the student body about such things as the laundry facilities, the band and orchestra, and the posting of announcements and publicity receive attention. The Senate sponsors JWSF and approves all club activities.

Also on the agenda were several new problems. The students, desiring a place to ice-skate, had in previous years flooded the tennis courts, which practice was detrimental to the courts themselves. Hence, the Senate initiated a committee whose plans of building a skating dam were begun. For Christmas decorations, the Senate decreed that every class be responsible for some area on campus, a move enriching the spirit of Christmas and co-operation on college hill. Also in the Senate meetings, which were open to the students, All-Class Night rules and regulations were improved. In true democratic style committees were appointed to investigate the problems of rubbish-collection units on campus, college-community relations, and the renaming of certain college buildings.

Thus functions Juniata's government, the pulse of the student body.

Honor Society

The purpose of the Honor Society of Juniata College is to encourage general scholastic achievement of students. Outstanding students of the junior and senior classes are chosen to become members on the basis of scholastic achievement, moral integrity, and broad cultural interests. An annual banquet is held in the spring of each year to welcome into the society new members, who are elected by a committee composed of the President of the college, several faculty members, and present members of the organization.

Who's Who

Six seniors, five of whom were Student Senators, became members of Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, thus gaining national recognition. A committee of faculty and administration chose these students on the basis of scholarship, leadership, activities, promise of future usefulness, and general good citizenship.

Men's House Committee

To further self-government in the men's dormitories the Men's House Committee executes a disciplinary program. The Committee represents the men in requesting dorm improvements from the administration. This year the Committee made improvements in the ping pong equipment, set up horse shoe pits, and in the recommendation of Leadership Conference took the initiative in moving the men's annual snowball fight from outside the dorms to Sherwood Forest. It also expanded its membership to include two representatives from the male day students.

Women's House Committee

The Women's House Committee consists of all the hall presidents in the women's dormitories and a representative of the women day students. The organization, which meets on the first Monday of every month, finances itself through a concession to sell milk and doughnuts in the women's dorms.

With its chief objective to maintain order in the women's residence halls, the Committee also has charge of the fire-lighting ceremony in the Social Rooms, formal dinners, faculty guests, room drawings, fire drills, providing rooms for guests, general rules and regulations for the dorms, and publishing the Latch Key. This year Women's House has made its major project fixing the faculty rooms, and hopes in the future to procure new ironing boards and irons for the pressing rooms.

Underclassmen Committee

Orienting freshmen to the Juniata way of life is the task of the Underclassmen Committee. Its functions involve blanching the proverbial green complexions; cooperating with the deans in planning and carrying out Freshmen Week activities; directing the freshmen supervised study program; and setting up freshmen regulations. The violators of these regulations are constructively punished by the freshmen court, composed of Underclassmen Committee members.

The JWSF is the result of an annual effort of the members of the student body, faculty, and administration to realize in part their responsibility to a world of need. The projects to which the 1954 drive contributed were: the World University Service, Juniata's own Foreign Student Aid Fund, the Japanese International Christian University Scholarship Fund, and the work of foreign missionaries H. Stover Kulp and Dr. Paul Hoover, both graduates of Juniata.

Although small, this club is an integral part of Juniata. Under the leadership of Bill Garrison, the club instructs members in the development of films, assumes responsibility for the school dark room, and furnishes photographs for the various school publications. In a seemingly insignificant way the Camera Club makes vital contributions to life on our campus.

Debate

"Resolved: that the United States should adopt a policy of free trade," was the national question to which the members of the Debate Society responded both in the affirmative and the negative. During the year the Society visits various Pennsylvania colleges where its members can express their arguments. Participation in the Pennsylvania Intercollegiate Forensic Tournament at Allegheny College was the major event for this year.

Alfarata

More than simply a diary with snapshots, the Alfarata is also the emblem of elbow grease. The Alfarata Staff does everything from dreaming up captions and developing negatives to consulting with engravers and printers.

The purpose of the 1954 Alfarata is to capture the scenes and spirit of a year at Juniata. Its theme is Opportunity; its symbol Doorways.

Juniatian

Friday is the day! Students rush out of chapel to get their Juniatian to see what and who is making news on the campus. This year the editorship was passed on to Jim Hunt by Jeanie Tait at the half year mark and both editors turned out an outstanding weekly newspaper.

The Juniatian serves as a voice for the entire campus: student body, administration and faculty. It airs student opinion, announces coming attractions on campus, interviews campus celebrities, gives a peep into world affairs and makes itself generally indispensable. And where else can you get all this and Bilbo's "Little Man on Campus" too!

Scout

The Scout is a blue appendage peculiar only to freshmen. It contains the Alma Mater, college songs and cheers, dormitory rules, an activities calendar, and Juniata's traditions.

Band

Director Jack Brammer gives the downbeat and we hear the martial music of the Juniata Pep Band. We hail the thirty-five members and three majorettes as the source of musical spirit at our football games and pep rallies. This emphasis first semester on a pep band instead of a marching band is in an effort to cope with the difficulties of having a small college band. During the second semester a transformation takes place and a concert band emerges, presenting a program in chapel and a concert preceding the May Day program.

Orchestra

From the fugues of Bach to novelty tunes the orchestra of Juniata College ranges in playing for its own enjoyment and to spread its popularity. Open to anyone with previous musical experience, it practices once each week in Swigart Hall under the capable baton of Professor Jack Brammer. It presented several fine performances during the year including the accompaniment for the operetta, "The Gondoliers," along with Chapel and May Day presentations.

Touring Choir

The Juniata College Touring Choir is composed of twenty-six voices and seven instruments. The outstanding event of the annual program is its ten-day tour which this year covered eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey, and included concerts at schools, churches, and over the radio. The Choir also performs on campus and in nearby towns.

With the money received from these concerts the Choir finances its trips, gowns, and music in order to maintain itself as an independent organization.

Chapel Choir

"Incline Thine ear to us and grant us Thy peace." The choral responses and occasional anthems sung during chapel services are accepted as the total of the Chapel Choir's activities, but the influence of this group is more widespread. The Spring Concert with its varied program revealed the versatility of this group. However, the outstanding activity was the beautiful Christmas Pageant. Under the skillful planning and direction of Miss Mary Pfotenhauer, the Nativity was presented in song and tableau. This production was unique because of the unusual combination of scenes from renowned paintings and the anthems and carols.

Social Committee

The social committee is undoubtedly one of the most active organizations on college hill, for their primary function is organizing, guiding, and approving every social event at J. C.

The committee copes with three main areas of activity. First, the committee members face the task of administrating and rounding out the social calendar, seeing that some club or organization is responsible for every open date. Secondly, they themselves are directly responsible for movies, after-dinner dances, the Christmas Dance, and the Sadie-Hawkins Day Dance. Finally, the social committee serves as the student supervising body of Totem Inn. Besides being in charge of the financial report, they review and discuss all ideas on improvement, and in general correlate the student demands and the rules of the Inn.

Masque

The Masque begins their usual busy year with a series of work shop productions, and the season is barely underway when the members find themselves not only entangled in their intra-club activities but in other dramatic activities on campus. The club finds itself, collectively and individually, working on All-Class Night skits, acting, making-up and prop finding for the Student Musical Production, "The Gondoliers," and reading play after play to find THE PLAY for this year's big Masque production.

And then, THE PLAY, it's Thornton Wilder's very challenging "Skin of Our Teeth." With a cast of about forty and all the back stage details to attend to, the Masque is flying high. Doris Wilson, secretary of the Masque serves as a Student assistant to the director, our own Miss Doyle. The usual pre-play activity and quasi-hysteria mounts to an all-time high as March 19 and 20 draw nigh. And suddenly it is March 19, dress rehearsal has flown by, and the play goes on . . . and down in the books as one of the most successful and well-received Masque productions in the Masque's short history.

Outing Club

By the waters of Camp To-Ke-Sta stands the College Outing Cabin. The Outing Club's purpose is to encourage sportsmanship; and its cabin, which may be used by all Juniata students, serves as a base for overnight hunting. The Club has assumed all responsibility for maintaining the cabin in good condition.

Dance Band

Frequently a layman strolling by Swigart Hall could imagine himself to be suddenly transported to 52nd Street or New Orleans. The reason: Eleven college musicians who make up the college dance band known as the Royales. Many crazy sounds can be heard when this aggregation of musicians starts blowing up a storm. Bon-bon takes a long, cool ride on the bone; Ed comes on with a frantic beat; while Danny takes five with a real gone sax. Playing popular tunes of the day, interspersed with fast numbers—and not forgetting the old standards, this group makes music for most of the biggest social functions on campus. A few of their jobs this year were the Faculty Reception, the Christmas Dance, and the Valentine Dance.

Juniata Christian Association

Serving as the interdenominational religious organization on campus the J.C.A. is presided over by the Senate Chairman of Religious Activities.

Among the special functions of the J.C.A. are the deputation teams which visit churches in various communities, the programs presented on campus in Spiritual Emphasis Week, the All-College Communion held in Oller Hall in the spring and the morning services in Stone Church during Lent. Sponsored by the J.C.A. the President's Bible Class meets every Sunday. And occasionally vesper services are held in Oller Hall, featuring guest speakers.

On the lighter side, this group also sponsors the pajama party held for all resident women students in the fall, and the annual Christmas party for the underprivileged children of Huntingdon. This year J.C.A. conducted a clothing drive to aid the needy in the war-torn countries of Europe and Asia.

The regular meetings of the J.C.A. occur Tuesday evenings, while in alternate weeks are held worship services and the meetings of these commissions: Personal-Campus Affairs, Social Responsibility, Christian Heritage and World Relatedness.

International Relations Club

The I.R.C., a fragment of the U.N. on Juniata's campus, stimulates interest in world affairs.

This year the club's speakers were a G.I. who had been in North Korea as a P.O.W. for three years, a missionary from China, Dr. Kulp who did missionary work in Nigeria, and persons from Korea and from Denmark. There were also several club discussions about the U. S. foreign policy.

Students interested in subjects varying from the ABC's to logarithms join the F.T.A. Attempting to familiarize its members with the teaching profession, the club holds monthly meetings in which it hears educators discuss various phases of education, conducts discussions among its own members, and hears reports from such activities as student teaching and conferences. This year it also promoted special projects such as providing story-tellers for children at the county library, holding a Halloween party for the first graders of the Alfarata school, sponsoring a "School Daze" dance, and working with the Huntingdon Boy and Girl Scouts. Affiliated with the National and Pennsylvania State Education Association, the club provides its members with NEA Journals and Pennsylvania School Journals.

Lambda Gamma

This year, the Lambda Gamma chose as their major project the task of tailoring the drapes at the windows of Totem Inn. Armed with tape measures and notebooks they swarmed upon the "Tote" and mysteriously scratched down little facts and figures. In nearly no time at all, Totem Inn displayed the best dressed windows on the Juniata campus.

The club puts its members to work periodically at baking cookies, brownies and various other delectable items to be offered for sale at the club bake sales. These bake sales are the main source of income for financing the club projects. Besides these foods lab get-togethers, the highlight of every year is the Lambda Gamma's banquet when the homemakers take a vacation from the kitchen and limit their activities to the dining room table.

Pyrenees Club

Between France and Spain lie the Pyrenees Mountains. From this natural boundary the college language club derived its name. The Pyrenees Club invites students interested in the French, Spanish, and German languages and cultures.

In their monthly meetings members of the club discuss conditions in these three countries. Outstanding features of this year's club programs were a Spanish movie, recordings of French plays, a puppet show, and a Christmas program of singing carols from the European countries.

Tycoon Club

For future economists and business executives the Tycoon Club meets on the first Friday of each month. One of several interesting speakers this year, Mr. Plant of the Union National Bank, spoke to the club about different aspects of banking. Besides various projects the club also sponsors social activities, such as their annual banquet at Helfrig's.

Chemistry Club

$MgNH_4PO_4$ is what and why? The chemistry club has an affinity for such questions, and for future chemists. Having a valence of 24 for the American Chemical Society creates a chapter of Student Affiliates here at Juniata. Women's Athletic Association

The WAA is a national organization which has a local chapter here at Juniata College. Any co-ed interested in sports may join the club.

Besides intramural games in basketball, hockey, tennis, volleyball, and ping pong, the Women's Athletic Association also sponsors the J-Club—WAA basketball game. This year the club held its first Play Day in hockey with teams from Penn State, Bucknell, and Lock Haven.

Football

Coach Bill Smaltz, in his seventh and final season as Indian coach, led the team to the school's first undefeated and untied season in history. The Tribe was among seventeen teams of the nation with perfect records and was one of three such squads in the state.

In mid-February Smaltz resigned his post to accept an assistant-coaching role at North Carolina State in Raliegh, North Carolina. During his seven year stay at Juniata he compiled a 32-17-2 mark. Smaltz came to Juniata in 1946 and in his under-graduate days he was a top-flight backfield star at Penn State. In 1941 he was among the top passers of the nation.

The Indians began with a win over a tough Moravian squad by a 20-6 score. Haverford fell 27-13 and the following week produced the season's biggest surprise, a 43-13 sinking of Dickinson. Joe Trimber's 95 yard touchdown drive on a Dickinson kickoff was the offensive performance of the year. A determined P.M.C. team scored the final touchdown of the year against the Blue and Gold but lost 24-7.

The Blue and Gold closed the year with three successive shutouts. In eight inches of snow they stopped a tough Grove City eleven 22-0, hapless Susquehanna bowed 39-0. Before a huge Parent's Day throng the Tribe made it seven in a row by out-classing Ursinus 21-0.

The squad scored 196 points while limiting their opponents to just 39. The team ranked among the top twenty defensive teams in the nation.

With huge pre-game pep rallies, post game victory parades, and the enormous post-season pep rally in Oller Hall gave indications that the entire student body was behind the squad. But probably the greatest display of student enthusiasm came prior to the Grove City game. Eight inches of snow blanketed the field and for hours before the game the students used shovels, plows and feet to clear the field, thus aiding in the Indian 22-0 victory over the Wolverines.

The sophomore dominated eleven was actually "hurt" by the return of one platoon football. Because of the depth, especially in the backfield, many who had shone the previous year were forced to give way to the versatile sixty minute men.

Seniors and co-captains, Charles Knox, Harry Martin, Tom McNeal and Ron Clapper are the only four lost through graduation. Vince Piazza was inducted into the armed forces in February.

The starting eleven was composed of eight sophomores, two Seniors, and one Junior. J.C. football fans and the new coach should forsee many more successful Saturday afternoons in the next two years.

Barry Drexler, Don Conley, Harry Martin, Keith Birmingham and Bud Douds did considerable service at the end positions. They were backed by Alex Hiquet, Bob Crispen and Joe Reese, three promising freshmen. Joe Veto, Ed Suitil, Charles Knox, and Harold Estep were varsity tackles. In reserve were Freshmen Joe Keppel and Don Havice.

The guards of the Indian line were short, fast, and rugged. Bill Haushalter, Myron Sevick and Joe Balint saw first string duty. Freshmen Ed Riley, Charlie Haines, Harry Fleck, and Jim Stayer pressed the starters and saw action in several ball games during the campaign.

Versatile Ron Clapper anchored the center slot and was backed by two promising freshmen, John Staley and Don Witters.

The backfield had considerable depth and Coach Smaltz had a real problem forming a first string quartet. Joe Trimber started at wingback and his long runs kept J.C. fans on the edge of their seats throughout the season. Fran Wampler, Ron Lemin, Terry Dear, Jack Kruzelock, and Ron Gibson were reserve wingbacks for Smaltz. Bill Yerzyh got the call as the first string quarterback and was backed by veteran Tom McNeal and freshman Nel Nycum.

Don Pheasant and Pat Tarquinio alternated a tailback and sparked the offense with their running and passing abilities. Spelling them when necessary were John McNeal, Carl Hill and Ferrill Alderfer. John Winterstein, Vince Piazza and Ron Bechtel, all Sophomores, were the J.C. fullbacks. Their drives gave necessary power to the Blue and Gold single wing attack.

Undefeated Season

Above are scenes which will long be remembered when fans speak of the undefeated, untied season of 1953. Top left, Joe Trimber off on a 43 yard touchdown on the second play from scrimage against Susquehanna in a 39-0 romp. Bill Smaltz watches from the sidelines per usual in the right hand corner. The locker room scene followed the final win over Ursinus and thus the un-rehearsed victory celebrations. The four senior members of the squad acted as co-captains. Joe Veto is shown in one of his booming kick-off drives. Who will ever forget the snow-clearing project prior to the Grove City game?

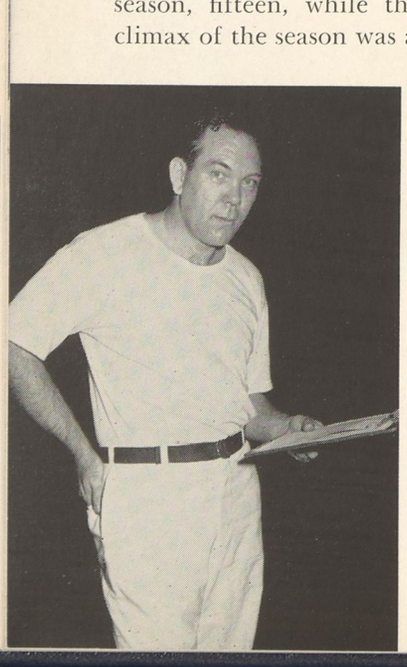
Basketball

Although not undefeated, the basketball squad also set a new mark for the most victories in one season, fifteen, while they lost only six. The climax of the season was a 77-75 win over heavily favored Lebanon Valley in the final game of the campaign. The Tribe played before near capacity home crowds throughout the year and after dropping their home game to Geneva, they won nine straight games in the Memorial Gymnasium.

Sophomore sensation Jake Handzelek once again rewrote the record books by tickling the cards for 553 points and a 26.3 average. He broke his previous season's high in the opener against Franklin and Marshall with 40. Six times he reached the 30 point mark including 39 against



Dr. T. Arnold Greene, coach

Lock Haven and 38 against Moravian. He also led the team in assists with 99 to Lee Hallman's 94. But probably most amazing was his field goal percentage of 40.5, truly outstanding for a set shot and drive artist.

The sophomore dominated squad saw 6 ft. 6 in. Walt Vanderbush (292 points), Lee Hallman, smooth working back court ace (227 points), Chuck Gross, defensive wizzard (84 points) and Howie Kerstetter, rebound artist (143 points) start the majority of the games. Bernie Oriss was the "sixth man" and accounted for 131 points.

Other letter-winners included George O'Brien (62 points), Jim Boulton (52 points) and Torry Froisland (27 points). Jack Golden, Herb Law, Bill Burchfield, and Bob Gombos, although not lettering managed to see varsity action during the year.

Coach Dr. T. Arnold Green, in his fifth season, saw his team compile win streaks of six, five, and three games. The Tribe also hit the ninety mark four times, including their season high of 97 against Susquehanna. This also set a new school record. The local dentist lost but two players from the previous year, Capt. Dave Pollock (now in the service) and Herb Halkovich (through graduation). Next year the Tribe will have everyone returning, including nine lettermen.

Handzelek ran his two year scoring total to 1026 points. The only record which has escaped him is the most points scored in a single game, 43, held by Dave Pollock. Lee Hallman was also a big factor in the amazing success of the Indians. Up from the Jayvees, he was third high scorer with 227 points and totaled 94 assists.

The Little Indians coached by Bill Smaltz and Dr. Greene had a mediocre 9-10 season, but their potential ability affords Juniata good material in the next few years. The high for the Jayvees was their 105-78 rout of the Lycoming Junior Varsity.

College Hill fans are anticipating continued success on the hardwoods for the next several seasons with the Indians' wealth of material and a fine coach, Dr. T. Arnold Greene.

Junior Varsity Basketball

The Junior Varsity compiled a 8-10 record and showed flashes of great promise as the season drew to a close. Their 105-79 rout over the Lycoming Juniors climaxed the season. The squad, composed of six freshman and two upperclassmen, was led by freshman Bill Burchfield, who dumped in 42 points in the same Lycoming game. The former Altoona High School great compiled 287 points over the season.

The Indians also defeated two strong independent squads and split a two game series with the McKees Creek, undefeated in Intramural League play.

Baseball

The 1953 baseball squad with a 9-6 record continued the Juniata tradition of winning diamond teams. A four game mid-season losing streak was snapped with a 9-1 win over Indiana S.T.C. The Tribe proceeded to win five of their last six contests to finish with a winning record.

Senior southpaw Dave LeFevre compiled a 5-2 record plus a 9-4 win over the Alumni in the annual exhibition tilt. His batteryman, freshman Don Pheasant, led the squad in hitting with a .322 average, centerfielder Fran Zimmerman was a close second with .320, while first sacker Wes Lingenfelter was in third position with .313.

The pitching behind LeFevre was bolstered by freshmen Harold Estep, John Criswell, and Neil Spangler. Estep turned in the season's best performance, a two-hitter in the 9-1 win over Indiana S.T.C.

The varsity infield found Wes Lingenfelter at first, Ken Leonard at second, Lee Hallman was the shortstop and Jake Handzelek held down third base. Reserve infielders ready for action were Jack Golden, Bernie Oriss, Bob Simon, Dave Hackett, and Gene Biddle.

Patroling the outfield were Joe Hinish, Fran Zimmerman, and Tom McNeal. Barry Drexler and Buddy Douds gave the team bench strength for the starting outfielders.

Rainouts and wet grounds caused serious schedule difficulties and practice postponements throughout the season. Actually, one home game was played during a snow storm.

LeFevre was the only graduate who saw extensive action and the 1954 coach sought a replacement for the strong-armed flinger as this was written.

It was Bill Smaltz's last campaign as baseball coach, for the following winter he left Juniata to accept an assistant football coaching post at North Carolina State. Smaltz's baseball teams have compiled enviable winning marks throughout his stay at Juniata.

Defeats were suffered at the hands of Bucknell, Indiana S.T.C., Pitt, Lock Haven, Elizabethtown, and traditional rival Susquehanna.

Don Conley and Charles Mullen served as co-managers for the squad. Their work, usually unnoticed, was a big factor in the success of the team.

The 1953 tennis team had a successful .500 season, splitting six matches. Coached by Dean James F. Penney, the team scored wins over Lycoming (twice) and Indiana S.T.C. Losses came at the hands of strong Pitt, Dickinson, and Elizabethtown.

Captain Dick Bowker led the inexperienced squad to a surprisingly good showing. The team began the season from scratch without the aid of a returning letter-winner.

Kitty Ann Underkoffler, a freshman co-ed won a spot on the squad, winning a match from a co-ed in the Indiana S.T.C. triumph.

Seniors included Bowker and Sam Byers, who played in the number one position. Junior Paul Gingrich and Sophomore Dick Fusco were the only other upper-classmen on the squad. Freshmen included Dan Raffensperger, Ray Pfrogner, and Miss Underkoffler.

Two matches, with Albright and the other a return match with Elizabethtown, were cancelled because of rain. Indoor practice no doubt was a great asset to the team's improvement. Throughout the winter months, team members were busily working out in the spacious Memorial Gymnasium.

The 1954 outlook was considerably better as the squad was strengthened not only by the returning mainstays of last season, but the noticeable improvement and fan interest were evident in the growth of tennis on College Hill.

While the golf team lost two matches during the 1953 season, their record continues to be the most amazing in the history of athletics at Juniata. In seven years they have won 47, lost nine, and tied one. Last season they boasted six more wins over such outstanding rivals as Dickinson, St. Francis, Albright, Bucknell, Western Maryland, and Johns Hopkins. To continue their outstanding pace, they won the 14th annual Western Maryland Invitational Tournament and as hosts, finished second in Juniata College Invitational Tournament at nearby Mount Union.

Their record of twenty-five straight wins on their home course was snapped by a strong Pitt team. Their other loss was in an upset to Franklin and Marshall.

Captain Dave Bayer was the lone senior and this alone sends the Indian hopes soaring for an outstanding season in 1954.

Tom Cherok, junior veteran, became the first collegiate golfer to capture the championship in both the Middle Atlantic Conference Tournament and the Western Maryland Invitational. Cherok did it on successive Saturdays. In three years of competition he has compiled 23 wins against just four defeats.

Freshman Bill West with an 8-0 slate and sophomore Frank Arasin with 7-1 backed Cherok. Others who saw considerable action were Captain Dave Bayer 3-2-1, junior Bob Fahrney 0-1, and freshmen Keith Birmingham and Barry Montgomery both 5-3.

The quartet of Cherok, Arasin, Birmingham, and West won the West Maryland Invitational and were runner-up to Lehigh in the Middle Atlantic championships.

Coach Edgar S. Kiracofe led the team to its seventh successful season since 1947. Their record thus far stands as a symbol of top notch ability of the linksmen to represent Juniata against stronger rivals of the Keystone state.

Track

Although the track squad failed to win in five starts there was one bright spot in an otherwise downcast season. Gene Rothenberger, Sophmore letterman, won the broad jump championship in the Middle Atlantic Conference Track and Field Championships. His lead of 22 feet ¾ inches was his best effort of the year. Rothenberger won the same event in five straight meets.

Juniata was simply "outclassed" in dual meets with Shippensburg S.T.C., Lebanon Valley, Dickinson, and Albright. The Indians finished third in the traditional triangular meet with Gettysburg and Bucknell.

Other "J" winners on the squad besides Rothenberger included Larry Hartline, Al Nyce, Joe Trimber, and Bob Flory.

Injuries plagued the squad throughout the year and several promising freshmen were ineligible because of grades. But prospects for the 1954 season seemed brighter and Coach P. M. Snider had several freshmen working hard for the forthcoming schedule.

Intramurals

Throughout the school year, the intramural program has given ample opportunities for all students to participate in their favorite sport. The program is ably directed by the Chairman of Athletics and the President of the W.A.A.

Basketball and softball hold the main interests for the boys, while the girls take to field hockey and basketball.

In boys basketball the McKees Rocks after going through an undefeated season were the victims of the upsetting Sunbrookers in the play-offs. While in girls basketball the Red-Devils were the undisputed champs by remaining undefeated throughout the season. In girls' hockey the Tri-Delts emerged as victor.

Other intramural sports are softball, touch football, tennis, and volleyball. All these add to make happy hours at Juniata.

Edie, Queen of the Christmas Belles

Christmas Dance

Silver light reflecting from the icicles on a giant Christmas tree transformed the Women's Gymnasium into Santa's Workshop for the annual Christmas Dance. The Social Committee completed the decorations with toys and a Santa Claus.

By means of a special marking on her dance program, Edie Talbot became the Queen of Toyland, reigning over her subjects as they danced to music by the Royals.

Also helping to make the Christmas Dance a highlight of the winter months were the entertainment, novelty dances, and the eggnog.

Homecoming

Queen Nancy smiles from the "royal coach."

Another Homecoming Day tradition— Each year the students choose their favorite co-ed on the basis of beauty, personality, and popularity. Miss Homecomeing VII was Nancy McCahan, a senior sociology major from Chester, Pennsylvania. She was crowned queen during half-time of the Susquehanna-Juniata game and in the evening she reigned over the gala J-Club Frolic. The Queen's attendants were Donna Croft, a junior from Bedford, and Joyce Mullan, a senior from Shepherdstown, West Virginia.

Nancy and her attendants, Donna Croft and Joyce Mullan.

Celebration

The most anticipated event on campus for the Freshmen is the morning of Homecoming Day. This is the time for the "Battle of the Brawn," where the Sophs face the "Be-dinked" to determine the answer to "which is the best class?" The girls show their skill on the hockey field, while the boys play a rough'n tumble game of touch football—followed by a tug-of-war. If the Freshmen should win 2 of these events, they can "throw their hats to the sky" — on the other hand. . . . .

This year the Class of '57 emerged from the fray with two victories. They appeared at the football game dressed as Indians on the warpath. Half time featured the Frosh in a lively snake dance on the gridiron. After the game, regulations were off — and so were the Freshmen, to get in shape for next year, when they will be facing new "Greenies" on Homecoming Day.

Soon to be — full fledged members of the "House of Braves."

Gipp and his crew pit their strength against the Sophs! (How many times did that rope break?)

Some of that Juniata spirit — led by Bernie and the band.

The Gondoliers

Gilbert and Sullivan came to Juniata College this year in the presentation of their delightful comic-opera, "The Gondoliers." With the music and libretto of this famous team and a cast of Juniata students, a fine production entertained an audience of parents, friends, and students on November 14, 1953.

Directing the operetta were Miss Doyle, who encouraged dramatic polish, Professor Johnson, who led the orchestra, and Dagmar Silldorff and Doris Wilson, who acted as student coordinator and assistant student coordinator respectively.

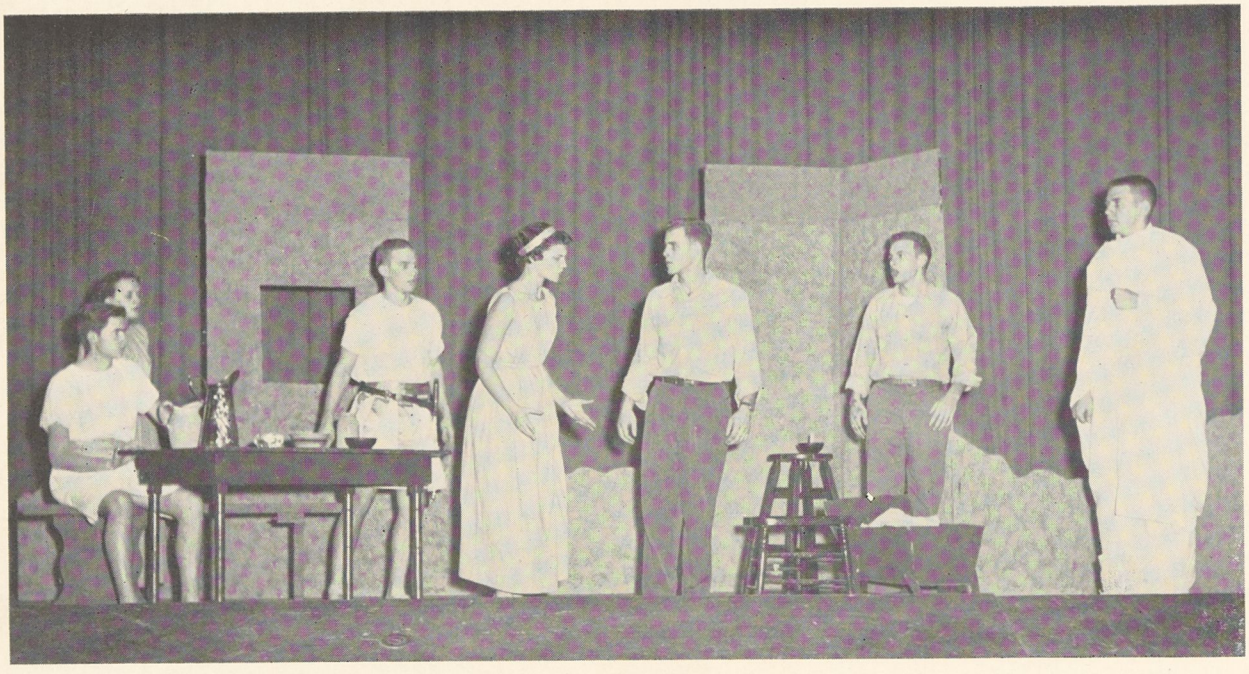
Acting in the operetta, beside the gondoliers, the chorus, and characters in other secondary roles, were Helen Rosengren as Casilda, the feminine lead, and Dick Livingston as Luiz, the masculine lead.

"The Gondoliers" not only gave the audience a few laughs and appealing entertainment but also contributed its proceeds to support the JWSF.

Operetta

In gay Vienna the laughing gondoliers vie for the title of Prince of Barataria. With love songs, laughter, suspense, and gondolas gliding across the stage with mysterious authenticity, the intriguing plot culminates in the revelation of his Majesty Luiz.

All Class Night



With "Lonely Outcry," the intensely dramatic story of a Spartan family forced by the demands of the state to make a life or death decision, the seniors under the direction of "Fritz" Blechschmidt finally won the All Class Night cup.

Because of the new categorical regulations, all the skits had historical themes. The juniors emphasized setting and lighting in a colorful pantomine of the "Legend of Alfarata." With "Harding Was Their Choice" the sophomore class enacted a possible scene in a newspaper office on election night in 1920 when Wilson was defeated. They stressed characterizations and amusing political clap-trap. "Your Old Man's A Monkey" by the freshmen was focused on the legal and rhetorical eclat in the famous Darrow-Bryon debates on evolution.

The Chairmen for the four classes were Fritz Blechschmidt, Seniors; Pat Henry, Juniors; Nan Heller, Sophomores; and Bob Hamm, Freshmen. Betty Shearer was General Chairman and Allegra Forney was her assistant.

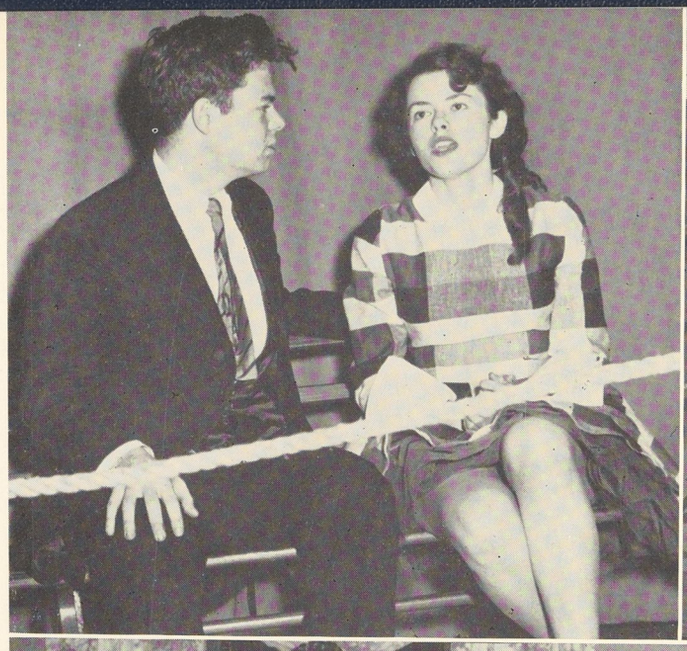
The Skin of Our Teeth

Thornton Wilder's prize-winning "story of mankind in comic strip" was the Masque's play production this year. On the evenings of March 19th and 20th the Antrobus Family escaped from the Ice Age, from complete Moral Degradation, and from War by the skin of their teeth.

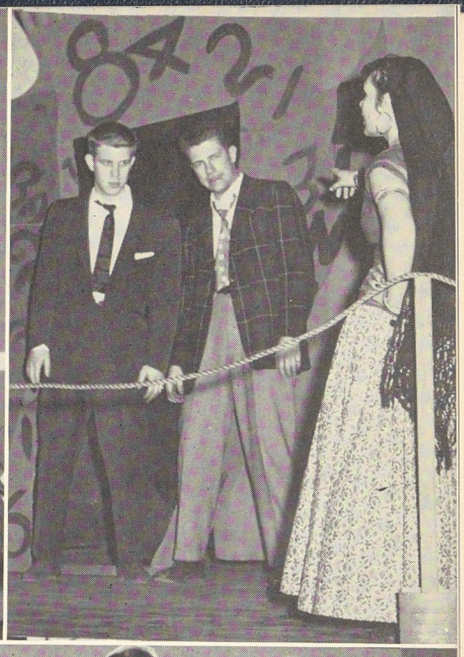
With graduated meanings in rare comedy, intense dramatic situation, and chilling satire, the play had everything in it from dinosaurs to bathing suits.

"The Skin of Our Teeth" was not merely entertainment; it was an experience. Scenery fell. Actors talked to the audience, rehearsed a scene on stage, and thoroughly violated dramatic decorum. And the audience approved the performance with its laughter and applause.

"But honestly, Mr. Antrobus, in this world, honestly, a good girl doesn't know where to turn."



"And you! Mark my words before it's too late. Where'll you be?"



"The fire's going out. There isn't enough wood. Henry, go up stairs and bring down the chairs and start breaking up the beds."

"We're all just as wicked as we can be, and that's the God's truth."

"What-hath-God-wrought?"

Prince Charming, Ted McGuire, stepped from a large music box in the center of the new dining room to conduct Queen Janice Wenger to her throne. Pictures of the court members were hidden in the table centerpieces of musical notes and staffs.

At the Coronation ceremony of the Festival of May and Melody on May 2, 1953, Queen Janice wore a lavender gown and her attendants wore pale green organdy gowns. After the crowning, the traditional May Pole Dance and a musical program were presented.

The Queen and Prince Charming reigned at the Junior-Senior Reception in the new gym which was decorated with colors pink, green, and silver in the theme of May and Melody.

The Alfarata staff has tried to present within the pages of this book a keyhole glimpse of some of the events of the past year on our campus. We hope that in the future this volume will recall many happy moments. As editor of the Alfarata, I want to thank all who have contributed to the production of this book. It is only through the interest and the work of the staff that this 1954 Alfarata was made possible.
